PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mayor John C. Kubacki and Abraham Minkler, both of Reading, pleaded innocent Thursday in U.S. District Court to charges of extortion.

The pleas, entered before Federal Judge Ralph C. Body, were to an indictment charging they extorted at least $10,500 from two parking-meter companies doing business with the city of Reading.

Minkler, 65, is serving a four-year term in Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary for failing to pay federal excise taxes on gambling receipts.

Kubacki, 51, has been Democratic mayor of Reading since 1960. He lost a bid for re-election at the May primary election. The mayor requested a trial by jury.

Constitution Talk Week Planned

HARRISBURG (AP)—Next week has been designated by Gov. Scranton as constitutional discussion week.

The governor said Thursday in a statement:

"I urge all Pennsylvanians, including students in the high schools and colleges of the Commonwealth, to make every effort to become familiar with the need for constitutional revision and the value of voting yes on this issue at the polls, and to discuss the matter with their neighbors, friends and fellow students."

Senate To Probe Democratic Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate adopted by voice Thursday a resolution authorizing a Rules Committee investigation into the financial transactions of Robert G. Baker.

Baker, 36, resigned Monday from his $19,600-a-year post as secretary of the Senate's Democratic majority at about the time the Justice Department disclosed an FBI investigation into his outside business activities.

A $300,000 civil suit against Baker charged that he used his office to help win contracts with a government defense subcontractor for an automatic vending machine company with which Baker had financial dealings.

Mrs. Nhu Sees U. S. Aid Cutback

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu went through another grueling round of engagements Thursday, in her effort to win American public support for the government of South Viet Nam. At one point she verged on collapse.

The tiny, dark-eyed sister-in-law of Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem told the students that "Americans should know that Viet Nam does not intend to be a beggar of anyone."

When the time is ripe, she added, "Viet Nam will be 'the first to request a cut in aid.'"

House Stops Joint Moon Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House voted a $5.1-billion appropriation for the national space agency Thursday night but said none of the money could be used to cooperate with Russia in sending a man to the moon.

Its action was a rebuff to President Kennedy, who told the United Nations on Sept. 20 that the United States was willing to cooperate with Russia in a joint moon project if a suitable agreement could be reached.

Russians Block Berlin Highway

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians held up two U.S. military convoys for some 15 hours Thursday on the highway connecting West Berlin and West Germany, then allowed them to move.

The incident was the most serious on the 110-mile life line to Communist-surrounded West Berlin since 1958.

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—For almost 5 hours the stock market hesitated Thursday. In the final quarter, however, prices turned upward to produce the last's first gain in just a week. Trading fell under 4.5 million shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average gained 73.

Of 1,301 issues traded $24 declined and 846 advanced. There were 24 highs for 1963 and 21 new lows. Volume dropped to 4.6 million shares from 5.52 million on Wednesday.

Landslide Starts Dam Flood; 3,000 Italians Believed Dead

BELLUNO, Italy (AP)—A catastrophic flood caused by a mammoth mountain landslide into a hydroelectric dam reservoir turned this once beautiful Alpine area into a vast mud-covered grave Thursday.

Estimates of the casualty toll ranged up to 3,000 dead.

Interior Undersecretary Giovanni Giraudo estimated that 2,300 people died when the gigantic wall of water crashed down from the Vaiont Dam reservoir into the Piave River Valley shortly before Wednesday midnight.

U.S. Army authorities helping in the recovery operations reported estimates that there were 3,000 dead.

But it was clear that it could be days before the last grim toll of those still buried under the nightmarish mantle of rock, debris and mud would finally be known.

400 Bodies

Thursday night, Giraudo told a news conference here at Belluno, 12 miles south of the dam, that 400 bodies had been recovered so far.

Scientists suspected an earthquake loosed the avalanche that dropped like a rock from Mt. Toc into the deep, four-mile-long reservoir and cascaded millions of tons of water over the Vaiont hydroelectric dam onto a sleeping countryside.

Flattened villages dotted the valleys of the lower Vaiont and upper Piave rivers below the dam, a reinforced concrete, 873-foot-tall structure that is the third highest dam in the world.

Witnesses said the water first splashed about 200 yards up the mountainside and swallowed two hamlets, then roared over the dam and down the valleys toward the Adriatic Sea, sweeping away whole villages, farms, roads and railway tracks.

Bodies Buried

Bodies of villagers and animals lay half buried in mud along the banks of the Piave. Dozens of bodies floated downstream on the 12-foot crest of the flood. Several were recovered as far as 36 miles downstream.

Observations at Basel, Chur and Trieste recorded a quake in this area of the Venetian Alps at 10:43 p.m. Wednesday.

Spokesman for the Swiss observatories said it may have loosed the landslide, which Italian experts estimated at tens of millions of cubic yards of mud and stone. Trieste geologists said they did not know whether the quake caused the avalanche or the avalanche caused the quake.

American troops and airmen joined 10,000 Italian soldiers, police, firemen and Red Cross workers in the relief operations and a move to avert a new calamity—the helicopter transfer of isolated villagers from the area of Mt. Toc threatened by another avalanche.

People Disappeared

"It is a work of pity more than of assistance," an Italian doctor said. "Villages have disappeared as if they never existed."

Italy opened separate judicial and technical inquiries into the tragedy to determine whether there had been negligence and to draw what a high official called "useful lessons for the future."

The country's movie houses and television network closed down. Parliament suspended its work.

The monster dam withstood the onslaught of mud and water. Only an upper corner was ripped away, apparently by the landslide.

The dam ranks in height behind the 990-foot Nourek dirt dam in the Soviet Union, which is not yet operative, and the 922-foot concrete Grand Dixence Dam in Switzerland. It is 147 feet higher than the U.S. Hoover Dam.

Italian authorities first announced that the dam collapsed. Police said it broke down in stages shortly before midnight.

Checks after dawn, however, showed the structure was intact except for the damaged corner. A squadron of four U.S. helicopters led by Maj. Harvey C. Mayse of Westchester, Wash., found that it looked all right from the air and ground reconnaissance confirmed this.

The landslide and flood caught hundreds asleep. Many heard the roar of plunging rock and falling water. They dashed from their beds. Some reached higher ground. Others were engulfed in the crashing water and mud.

Longarone, a town of 4,600 about 2½ miles from the dam, was hardest hit. The municipal hall, on high ground, was spared. The rest of the town, including a four-story building, was flattened beyond recognition.

He left it indefinite when he will resign as prime minister, but this will be after the party names a new leader. Under British procedure the prime minister is the leader of the dominant party.

Richard A. Butler seems at this stage most likely to take over. Macmillan's announcement to the party was disclosed a few hours after he left the operating table.

After saying he would not be well enough to lead the Tories into battle at next year's election, Macmillan added: "Nor could I

Kennedy Pushes Soviets On Troops Still In Cuba

3,800 At Hershey $100-A-Plate Rally

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy conferred with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko late Thursday and the Russian said both sides had expressed willingness and readiness to broaden the area of possible East-West accord.

White House authorities said Kennedy raised the issue of Russian troops still in Cuba, but without any announced result.

These authorities described the two-hour discussion as a healthy exchange of views on a variety of issues.

Gromyko told reporters: "Both sides expressed willingness to broaden the field of questions on which understanding is possible."

Gromyko was silent on the Cuban question. He declined even to say whether the issue had come up.

White House sources said Kenedy, as U.S. officials have regularly been doing in talks with the Russians, raised the subject of the continued presence of Soviet troops in Cuba. The United States wants them all to leave.

What response Gromyko gave was not disclosed.

Kennedy and Gromyko also stated their respective governmental positions on the proposed East-West nonaggression pact; the Kennedy plan for a NATO seaborne Polaris force; Berlin; Laos; and the banning of nuclear-armed satellites in outer space.

While they were talking, the Moscow radio broadcast a message from Soviet Premier Khrushchev calling for new East-West efforts to consolidate peace.

Khrushchev's message was addressed to Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. It marked the coming into force of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty barring all but underground explosions.

The Soviet premier said the treaty had brought a fresh breeze into the world atmosphere and shown that no matter how complicated are modern problems, or how great the difference between the social systems of states, "we can find mutually acceptable decisions in the interests of all mankind, in the interests of maintaining peace, if we show the necessary desire."

The atmosphere surrounding Thursday's White House meeting was notably different from a year ago when Gromyko last called on Kennedy. The Cuban crisis was then about to erupt and Kennedy subsequently accused Gromyko of having falsely denied the Soviet missile buildup on the island.

Kennedy, it was said, felt there had been a useful discussion.

Reds May Seek More U. S. Farm Products

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials busily paved the way Thursday for American wheat dealers to sell to the Soviet Union and Soviet satellite nations. And there was talk of Iron Curtain buyers asking about purchasing other farm products from this country.

That the Russians want the U.S. wheat, which President Kennedy announced Wednesday they may buy, was confirmed by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Embarking on a round of talks, the Soviet official told newsmen: "We're going to buy it. The United States is going to sell."

Gromyko declined to comment further on the arrangement.

The Russian people were told of the deal quickly by their own government. Moscow radio Thursday morning broadcast Kennedy's decision and said he had "emphasized the interest of the United States in the sale."

With U.S. wheat dealers apparently working quietly to prepare for the transaction, there came a demand from shipping unions that Kennedy nail down specifically a policy that U.S. ships carry most of the grain.

Peter M. McGavin, executive secretary-treasurer of the AFL-

CIO Maritime Trade Department, noted that the President had said the wheat would be carried in available American ships, supplemented by other ships as required.

Half U.S. Ships

McGavin urged that definite provision be made for at least 50 per cent of the wheat to be shipped in U.S. vessels with an aim of 100 per cent.

"Unless this policy is fixed we anticipate that the Soviet Union will seek to reduce costs by arranging the transport in foreign flag ships that can offer cut rates," McGavin said.

At a news conference, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said if U.S. vessels are unable to meet the delivery deadline of April 30, 1964, the determination would be made by private traders who have their own shipping contracts.

The commerce secretary added he knows of at least a score of U.S. vessels available immediately.

There still was considerable confusion about exactly how much wheat the Soviet Union and her East European satellites might seek to buy.

An estimate of four million tons—about 130 million bushels—desired by next April 30 was mentioned by Hodges. In the Senate, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said he understands the Soviet Union will buy about $250 million in wheat and other countries $50 million to $60 million.

ments would be made about every two weeks on the granting of export licenses. He said a few applications have been received but he gave no details, describing them as incomplete.

35 Percent Limit

No more than 25 per cent of the business will be permitted to go to any one U.S. grain dealer, reporters were told.

Hodges raised the possibility of the Communist nations buying other U.S. farm products, mentioning wheat flour. And Undersecretary of Agriculture Charles Murphy said they are interested in feed grains.

Murphy said however that the United States has received no definite inquiries from Iron Curtain nations about any U.S. farm products other than wheat. But Hodges said that isn't entirely true, that there have been inquiries about corn.

Milk And Butter

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., told reporters Kennedy had assured him at the White House Wednesday that "the same policy will be applied to other commodities." Aiken, who is from a dairy state, did not amplify except to add: "It may be that somebody will buy some milk and some butter."

Hodges declined to spell out details of the deals worked out with Soviet purchasing missions which he said are now on their way here to discuss the question.

Griffith Johnson, assistant secretary of state in charge of economic affairs, said explanatory talks were held last week with officials of the Soviet Embassy here. In addition, he said, some talks were held at the United Nations between Soviet and U.S. officials.

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater told a roaring crowd of Republicans Thursday night President Kennedy has forged a "cynical alliance" with big city political bosses.

With "Goldwater for President" signs waving in the background, the Arizona Republican charged Democratic candidates can't win elections without support of the bosses "and their corruption ridden machines."

Goldwater flew to this chocolate-rich town for a $100 a plate Republican dinner and rally.

Applause and cheers burst out repeatedly as he tore into the Kennedy Administration.

"A party and an administration so beholden to the bosses must be prepared also to play precinct politics with the hopes of the whole world," he said.

Party officials said 3,800 Republicans paid $100 apiece to dine in big green tents erected in a football stadium in a campus-like setting.

Then they trooped across the street to an arena to hear Goldwater's stern words about the administration.

At the arena, there was no official estimate on the number who turned out. Party officials said there were seats for 10,000 and the arena appeared to be about two-thirds full.

Demonstration

The applause that greeted Goldwater's introduction turned into a convention-style demonstration. Youthful Goldwater backers who crowded the upper tier of the arena chanted "We want Barry," and others paraded in front of the rostrum with "Goldwater for President" signs.

The silver-haired senator smiled broadly and waved at the demonstrators.

Before the rally, Goldwater told a news conference "I'm not ready," to say whether he will seek the Republican nomination for President next year. "I haven't quite made up my mind," he said.

But he added, President Kennedy "ought to be frightened of any Republican candidate in 1964."

But the Hershey crowd treated him like a candidate. Repeated rounds of applause greeted every mention of his name and it grew louder when he got tough with Kennedy.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., joined in jibing at Kennedy.

"Some people say that by putting gold and water together we can bury the Democrats," he said.

Scranton Greeting

Gov. William W. Scranton greeted the Arizona Senator as "one of the leaders of our party throughout the United States." Goldwater paid tribute in his speech to "our beloved former President" Dwight D. Eisenhower, Eisenhower, who lives at nearby Gettysburg, couldn't make it to the rally, saying he had a previous engagement.

received about $90,000 from Russia for some of this country's secrets.

Sylvester said Dunlap's wife had told investigators the sergeant indicated that during the first year of his activity he got between $30,000 and $40,000.

The Defense Department called a news conference after it was disclosed that Dunlap, who committed suicide by carbon monoxide poisoning in his parked car last July 23, had been considered a possible security violator.

Dunlap, 35, a native of Bogalusa, La., made one previous attempt to kill himself by taking an overdose of barbiturates about a month before he finally succeeded in killing himself near Ferndale, Md.

Sylvester traced the progress of the case which he said began when Dunlap, assigned as a clerk and messenger at the National Security Agency, applied for a civilian position in March, 1963.

As a clerk and messenger, Sylvester said, Dunlap had "limited access to classified information."

The Defense Department spokesman said Dunlap had been subjected to a security investigation before being attached to the agency, which has headquarters at Ft. Meade, Md.

When Dunlap asked for a civilian position last March, Sylvester said, a new investigation was started.

Good Morning!

Every trade has a Washington lobby now except the taxpayer.

Goldwater singled out the Philadelphia organization headed by U. S. Rep. William J. Green, city Democratic chairman.

"The Green machine is not an isolated political dictatorship," said Goldwater, "self-sustaining and self-protected."

"It is sustained by its connection with the national administration, with its patronage, with its political power, with its money power," Goldwater said, adding:

"It is protected by the same connections."

Goldwater said "the same is true of the situations in Western Pennsylvania, in Allegheny and Westmoreland Counties."

The senator said that what he termed as "the liberal Democrat wasteland" is such things as "the Democratic City Committee of Philadelphia refusing to turn over its financial records to a special grand jury investigating city hall scandals."

City Corruption

He referred to a continuing special grand jury investigation of alleged corruption of the Philadelphia City government.

He said the Philadelphia City administration has allowed "falsified requisitions to cover shortages in city funds" and the granting of zoning applications "mysteriously."

The situation, said Goldwater, includes "judges clamping legalistic lids on probes of Democrat scandals," making of state employees for political contributions, and "forced resignation of investigators assigned to probe the mess."

Goldwater contended the situation he described in Pennsylvania and nationally is a "jungle that grows just a few figurative steps behind the manicured lawn of the white house," adding:

"And still the wasteland grows and flourishes, thanks to its connection with Washington," he said.

Tower Predicts
Goldwater Win

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., predicted Thursday that Sen. Barry Goldwater will get the Republican presidential nomination and will have a good chance of defeating President Kennedy.

Tower made the remark at a news conference preceding his scheduled appearance before the Pennsylvania Medical Society convention, which ends Saturday.

He criticized the Kennedy administration for "privately proposing a cooperative space effort with the Russians."

"What I'd like to know," he said, "is what other private deals have been made with the Soviet Union?"

Suicide Sergeant Sold U. S. Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department announced Thursday night that Sgt. Jack E. Dunlap, who killed himself while under investigation, sold U.S. secrets to Soviet agents over a two-year period.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester told a news conference that the material did not include U.S. codes and ciphers—the most sensitive items handled by the super secret National Security Agency where the Army sergeant had been assigned.

"There is evidence that he did commit espionage by selling certain classified materials to agents of the Soviet Union," Sylvester said.

The Pentagon spokesman told reporters that an investigation, which developed after an employment check disclosed a record of "petty thievery and immoral conduct," led to evidence that Dunlap, an 11-year Army veteran, sold secrets "for the sole purpose of receiving a monetary reward."

The Washington Evening Star, in a copyrighted story, pictured the sergeant as a high-living horseplayer and ladies' man who

The 41-year-old flier was said to be serving as navigator on a cargo plane operated by the Air System Corporation of Panama, which was flying breeding cattle from Denmark to the United Arab Republic, when the crash occurred shortly after take-off from Marseilles.

Non-Farm Job Income Has Doubled

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The number of non-farm jobs in Pennsylvania has remained about the same since 1947—just under 3.7 million—but wages have doubled.

The work week, too, in 15 years is unchanged—an average 39½ hours.

These figures are disclosed Thursday in a new study by the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

It shows that between 1947 and 1962, non-farm jobs rose 16,000, or less than one-half per cent, from 3,674,000 to 3,690,000.

Major gains were in service industries (up 154,000), government (130,000), wholesale and retail trade (56,000) and finance, insurance and real estate (44,000).

But these 384,000 new jobs were offset by heavy employment cuts in mining (down 154,000) and transportation and utilities (72,000), manufacturing (156,000).

Mining—primarily in the anthracite and bituminous coal fields—showed the sharpest drop of all, down 76 per cent from 203,500 after the end of world war II, to 49,300 in 1962.

Herbert Biensstock, director of the bureau's middle atlantic region with headquarters in New York, said the statistics show that Pennsylvania's non-farm workers earned $1.21 an hour or an average of $47.92 weekly in 1947. This jumped to $2.41 and $94.95 last year.

North Berne, a former British crown colony, is now known by its local name, Sabah.

The data is compiled in a new book (available from the bureau at $3.50) detailing in 633 pages all employment, hours and earnings for the 50 states.

The number of farm workers in the 15-year period is not included in this study. Previous reports, however, showed that Pennsylvania, like the rest of the nation, had a drop in agricultural employment in the past decade. And also a sharp decline in the number of farms.

Here is the Pennsylvania breakdown of employment in the major non-farm industries (1947 compared to 1962):

Contract construction—138,700 increased to 151,600; mining—203,500 dropped to 49,300; manufacturing—1,556,300 down to 1,399,600; transportation and public utilities—335,700 dropped to 264,400; wholesale and retail trade—627,300 gained to 683,200; finance, insurance and real estate—111,600 increased to 156,900; service and miscellaneous—367,000 jumped to 521,300, and government—334,300 up to 464,400.

Mostly Metropolitan
Nearly half of the total non-farm work force is employed in the Philadelphia metropolitan area. The job-holders number 1,525,300 compared to 1,476,600 in 1949, first year that figures were kept for separate sections.

Pittsburgh, however, showed a job decline from 827,400 to 745,600, with the bulk of the employment loss in mining, construction and manufacturing.

Gains in non-farm employment were made in the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton metropolitan area (up 2,500 to 183,400), Erie (2,000 to 77,800), Harrisburg (7,700 to 144,100 with the increase primarily in government jobs), Lancaster (8,300 to 96,800 with the sharp rise in manufacturing), Reading (5,700 to 103,000 also due to manufacturing), Wilkes-Barre-Hazleton (2,800 to 105,100 because of manufacturing), York (3,300 to 84,800 due to government, wholesale and retail trade and manufacturing).

A decline in non-farm employment was recorded by Altoona (1,200 to 41,000 mainly in transportation), Johnstown (3,700 to 65,400 because of manufacturing), Scranton (just 200 to 76,700; mining dropped but manufacturing took up the slack).

Pederson Terms GOP Story As 'Improbable, Speculative'

STROUDSBURG — A top official of the Monroe County Republican Party last night labeled "highly improbable and most speculative" a story in yesterday's Allentown Morning Call which said three county GOP leaders met Wednesday night to decide which one of them would run for county chairman.

Olaf Pedersen of Stroudsburg, a member of the executive and patronage committees of the county GOP, used the words improbable and speculative in discussing the story which quoted Parke W. Unangst of Shawnee, recognized by Monroe County Commissioners, who serve as the county election board, as county chairman.

The story quoted Unangst as declining to name the three prospective candidates except to say each had played a prominent role in party affairs, either as an office holder, candidate or leader.

Hanford L. Cleveland of Craigs Meadows who claimed the party chairmanship as did Unangst following a meeting of the county's committeemen and women in June, 1962, said last night:

"I haven't been able to find out who was at the meeting. I wouldn't take it (the county chairmanship) if they gave it to me."

Kresge Not Available

Harold B. Kresge of Tobyhanna, recognized by the Scranton administration as county chairman, could not be reached for comment yesterday. He was in Hershey for the Republican meeting at which Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona was the principal speaker.

Registrations In County Show Decline

STROUDSBURG — Registration in Monroe County is down for both major political parties. Democrats are down 582 and Republicans have declined 191 in comparison with 1962 figures. However, the Democrats continue to hold a strong lead in the county with 11,190 registered voters. Republican registration is 7,750.

A story released Tuesday from Harrisburg said the Democrats show an increase in registration in the state.

Democratic registration in Monroe County as of Sept. 25, 1962 totaled 11,772 voters. The registration as of Sept. 21, 1963, is 11,190. This is a decrease of 582.

For the same period the Republicans had 7,941 in 1962, and 7,750 for 1963. This is down 191 from the previous year.

Registration as of April, 1962, the Democrats had 11,450 registered voters. In April of this year there were 11,025 registered voters. This is a decline of 425 voters for the period.

The Republicans, for the same period, had 7,720 and 7,614 or a decline of 106 voters.

15-Year-Old Escapee Still Missing

STROUDSBURG — A 15-year-old East Stroudsburg boy who escaped from probation officers and sheriff's deputies while being transferred from Monroe County Jail to Glen Mills School for Boys near Philadelphia yesterday was still missing late last night.

State Police in the area were asked to join in the search for Roger W. Wesser of 60 Brown St., East Stroudsburg, who ran away from Glen Mills twice within the last three weeks.

Wesser broke away as he was being placed in a car by John Larney, a deputy sheriff, and Henry McCool, county juvenile probation officer. Police Chief Travis Seese of East Stroudsburg was in the jail at the time.

McCool and Larney chased Wesser, but lost sight of him as he ran through a parking lot south of Main St.

He first ran away from the school on Sept. 23, was committed to juvenile quarters of the jail the following day and returned to the school on Sept. 26. He ran away again on Oct. 3 and was taken into custody Sunday.

New Area Highways Slated To Open Tuesday

HARRISBURG—Nearly 15 miles of relocated highways, both of which connect to the Rt. 80 Keystone Shortway near Stroudsburg will open next Tuesday.

State Highways Secretary Henry D. Harrel said the $8 million projects will save motorists about one-half hour travel time in comparison with other routes.

The new sections, all four lane highways, begin at Saylorsburg at the Wind Gap bypass and travel northeast to Stroudsburg and northeast to Bartonsville, making connections to the Keystone Shortway. Governor Scranton last month opened the Shortway section at Bartonsville.

According to Harrel, the improvements are relocations of Rt. 12, Saylorsburg to Syndersville; Rt. 209, Syndersville to Stroudsburg, and Rt. 12, Syndersville to Bartonsville.

The work was done in three construction phases. The earliest project began in March, 1962. The last to be started was between Syndersville and Bartonsville in January, 1963.

F. Karl Witherow, district five engineer of Pennsylvania Department of Highways in Allentown, yesterday said, "The four sections of newly constructed highway in the Syndersville area are scheduled to open Tuesday, Oct. 15."

"However, the opening date may be postponed if the report of the final inspection, completed today, indicates that work to be done will take longer than Tuesday to complete," he added.

Court Sets Argument Date In Driver's License Appeal

STROUDSBURG — Judge Fred W. Davis yesterday set argument for the first Monday of November on an appeal by Gunther W. Roy of Tannersville from an order of the Pennsylvania Secretary of Revenue suspending his driving privileges.

Atty. Phillip Williams of Stroudsburg, representing Roy, argued during a hearing before Judge Davis that Section 607 of the state's motor vehicle code provides that a serviceman has a year after discharge in which to renew his driver's license.

Atty. Lee Koehler of East Stroudsburg, representing the Commonwealth, argued that the law provides only that a serviceman may renew his license within one year of the date of discharge without taking an examination.

Sgt. Joseph A. DiPietro of the Stroudsburg State Police barracks was the only witness for the Commonwealth. He told the court he stopped Roy on Oct. 22, 1962, during a routine vehicle check, and that Roy showed him an out-dated license and a typed slip of paper citing Section 607.

DiPietro said Roy told him it was his opinion that he had a year in which to renew his license and that he had been discharged from the armed forces earlier that year.

John J. Sullivan of East Stroudsburg, appearing on a non-support charge, had a May 8, 1963, order amended to provide that he pay $10 a week for the support of his son and $15 a week on an arrearage of $730.

Sullivan told the court he earns $45 a week, a figure disputed by his wife, Dist. Atty. James R. Marsh, who represented the Commonwealth in the case, told the court Sullivan has a history of bench warrants for non-compliance with court orders.

Rotarians Hear Visitor To Moscow

STROUDSBURG — Carl Yost, an East Stroudsburg State College junior, told the Stroudsburg Rotary Club yesterday how Russians "tried to buy the clothes off my back" in Moscow's Red Square.

He described high prices and shabby living standards in Russia during a talk on his summer-long tour of Eastern and Western Europe.

While bread and potatoes were reasonably priced, he said one orange cost him 50 cents and a dozen eggs $1.80 in Moscow.

"It is surprising how many things are worn out and broken down right in the middle of Moscow," he said. Blocks and bricks falling from newly-constructed buildings in Moscow are such a constant danger, he said, that protective screens have been strung up on many new buildings.

"A number of ordinary things don't work," Yost asserted. It is commonplace for buses to break down and in Moscow's large Gorky amusement park "half the rides don't work."

He described government propaganda against the United States all over the country including a Statue of Liberty wearing a Ku Klux Klan sheet and beating a Negro.

Yost visited a museum of the history of religion which blamed the cups of wine used in Christian communion for the Black Plague and compared that to the one glass used by thousands of Russians at automatic soda water machines.

Vogt Running For First Time

STROUDSBURG — Joseph Vogt, Democratic candidate for Monroe County auditor, is not seeking reelection as reported in yesterday's Daily Record.

Vogt is seeking his first full term. He was appointed auditor to succeed Mahlon Besecker.

ES Board Records Intent To Remodel Old School

EAST STROUDSBURG — Application for alterations to the old elementary school on North Courtland St. to make it fit state requirements for use has taken its place in line to be assigned a number in Harrisburg, it was announced last night at the meeting of the executive committee of the East Stroudsburg Area Joint School Boards.

On the authorization of the building committee, Carl Secor, supervising principal, filled out the necessary forms with a projected percentage of pupil growth for the next six years, and filed it in Harrisburg last week. After a team assigned by the state has inspected the site to determine need, the project will be assigned the number in which it will qualify for re-imbursement from the state.

In reporting the step, Secor emphasized that filing the application is not in any way binding on the board, which can approve or disapprove the project and methods of financing it up until the time contracts are let.

Transportation To Games

The question of providing transportation for students to out-of-town football games on school buses was brought up by Martin Smith of the athletic committee who said parents were again asking why other schools in the district could do it, and East Stroudsburg couldn't.

Art Show Set

STROUDSBURG — The Autumn Outdoor Art Show of the Pocono Mountain Art Group will be held in the Courthouse Square on Columbus Day from dawn to dark.

A Memorial expresses character and distinction as a fitting tribute to your loved ones.

Stroudsburg Granite Co.
Truman Burnett, Owner
Main St. at Dreher Ave. 421-3391

Paul Nauman, president, reviewed board discussion on the same matter when it was brought up before. School buses can not be legally used if fare is charged, and the board decided that it was too expensive to provide them free.

"By providing transportation for the athletic teams and the band, I think we are doing all we should," he said. "If parents want their children to go to out-of-town games they should be willing to transport them and chaperone them themselves."

Athletic Field

Smith also brought up continuing complaints about the surface of the athletic field, which has been a bone of contention for a long time. The consensus of the board was that the building and grounds committee should secure specifications and estimates of cost, and the matter either be taken care of or dropped.

Raymond Hartmann of the buildings and grounds committee distributed pamphlets showing specifications and estimated costs of a shelter for school buses for study by the board.

Theodore Regina submitted details of a new insurance package for fire and liability, representing savings over the present insurance plan and the insurance committee was authorized to conclude arrangements.

Routine reports were given by James Bunnell, cafeteria; Harold Hamlen, personnel; Robert Wright, heating; and Ralph Turn, transportation.

B'nai B'rith Birthday

B'nai B'rith, the world-wide Jewish service organization is celebrating its 120th anniversary this Sunday. The date also happens to be the 25th anniversary of the Stroudsburg lodge of B'nai B'rith.

The ripe old age of 120 years has special significance for Jews because the last book of Moses says that "Moses was 120 years when he died." It represents a long and fruitful life and it suggests the beginning of a new era for the Jewish people.

B'nai B'rith is starting the new era with a major membership drive across the nation and around the world in the 44 countries which have B'nai B'rith organizations.

The Stroudsburg lodge now has 60 members and is seeking new recruits among the 125 Jewish families in this area.

The national and international efforts of B'nai B'rith have been devoted to helping refugees, the aged, the homeless youth and veterans. The organization has made an important contribution to the success of Israel, the elimination of anti-Semitism through its Anti-Defamation League, and the problems of young Jews through the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization.

In Stroudsburg, B'nai B'rith sponsors a Brotherhood Week Essay Contest in the Stroud Union and East Stroudsburg Joint Schools, has donated drinking fountains to the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg Playgrounds and has presented an American flag to the county courthouse.

These are some of its outside activities in addition to regular B'nai B'rith lodge programs.

The local lodge has sent two of its leaders to higher positions in the state organization. Dr. Seymour Pollan is head of the Northeast Pennsylvania Council and Attorney Maxwell Cohen is on the district board.

B'nai B'rith has proved itself an asset to Stroudsburg, to the nation and to the world and most of all to the Jewish people themselves.

Too Pure Democracy

The fatal flaw of Juan Bosch, president of the Dominican Republic who was recently overthrown by a military junta, seems to have been a too pure vision of democracy.

His enemies charged that he was a communist and that his government was infiltrated by communists, but they have not found any or denounced any since they took office by military force.

His visions of democracy included permission for minority groups and opposition parties to exist side-by-side with his ruling party with all the freedoms of speech, assembly and protest that we associate with our own American democracy.

His fatal flaw was extending this freedom to Castro and other communist subversive elements in his own society who were openly working for his downfall and the end of any kind of democracy.

Bosch clearly stated his choice between Democracy and Communism when he told his people after being elected Dec. 20, 1962, that "communism means death, war, destruction and loss of all our blessings."

Comment Of The Day

"In Latin America, the will of the majority does not represent true political support because the majority is really powerless.

"Power is concentrated in the hands of minorities which possess arms and the means of communication, and those minorities do not respect the will of the majority.

"True, the majority has influence and power every four years. But in intervals between elections—even in those Latin American countries which hold elections—political power is held by oligarchal groups and the military forces whom they manipulate to protect their own special interests."

—Juan Bosch, exiled former president of the Dominican Republic, explaining why he was overthrown by a military coup in an article printed in the Oct. 14 issue of The New Leader.

'Nikita, I'm Sure We Can Work Out Something!'

The Pennsylvania Story

By Mason Denison
HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook:

"St. Senor . . . Oui Monsieur" —Spanish, French, German; you could almost name it and chances are you would have heard it during the past ten days in the Harrisburg area had you been "tuned in" on a tour of Navy brass that bustled into the area — in certainly a unique tribute to Pennsylvania.

The "brass" in question however was not U.S. Navy — but rather a score of ranking senior foreign navy officers from 16 smaller (than U.S., that is) foreign countries on a U.S. Navy Department sponsored tour of duty to see how naval supply management operates in this country.

What were they doing here in the area? . . . A half-dozen miles west of Harrisburg is the Mechanicsburg Naval Supply Depot — largest inland naval supply depot in the world, where the foreign naval officers go through a nine-day training, familiarization and indoctrination course . . . They're in this country nine weeks and their only other "tours" in this country are Newport, R. I., New York City, Norfolk, Va., Pensacola, Fla., and Washington . . . Outside of Washington their longest stay at any one place is — Pennsylvania.

Why Pennsylvania — the Mechanicsburg Naval Supply Depot? . . . Aside from the practical training at this huge base, there's another very important reason . . . The area has been classified by the Navy as somewhat of a "showcase" from their military - civilian live - a day workability standpoint . . . Relationships here between the military and the civilian are considered ideal, a rub-off of true in-the-country atmosphere. Navy brass delight in having rub off on visiting service dignitaries!

In the evenings on the social side it's a chance to go right into the civilian lives and homes for buffets, dinners, cocktail blips and similar light gatherings — under the auspices and invitation not of the Navy base at Mechanicsburg but simply civilian reserve members of the Officer's Club, the Chamber of Commerce, etc.

For example, at an informal buffet given by Mrs. Gwendolyn Zarfoss (in World War II she resigned a Navy commission to join the cloak-and-dagger OSS!), Executives Secretary of the Governor's Committee for the Handicapped, on hand were foreign naval officers from Italy, Belgium, Chile, Nationalist China, Greece, Denmark, Brazil, France, Germany, Indonesia, Norway, Spain, Thailand, Vietnam, Dominican Republic and Canada!

Pros And Cons Of Constitutional Convention

(This is the first in a series of answers to arguments against the Nov. 5 referendum on calling a convention to revise the Pennsylvania constitution. It was prepared by the Monroe-Pike County Committee for Constitutional Revision and the Monroe County League of Women Voters. Both groups are working for a yes vote.)

Argument: A new constitution would bring a graduated income tax.

Answers: A. Court decisions, not the constitution have so far prohibited one in Pennsylvania. Fourteen states with identical clauses in their constitutions have income taxes anyway.

B. New Jersey had a constitutional convention and did not get a state income tax. Michigan recently adopted a new constitution which specifically prohibits it.

C. An income tax should be a legislative matter. The General Assembly should have the power to raise the money it needs in the best and fairest way. But even if the constitution allowed an income tax the legislature is not likely to impose one if it is unpopular. Legislators will not commit political suicide.

Try and Stop Me --by Bennet Cerf

Harpo Marx once went down to the Pasadena railroad station to see a non-plane-rider friend off for the East. He was engaged in some characteristic clowning on the platform when he noticed two prissy old ladies gazing at him with undisguised horror from the diner of the train his friend was boarding. Impulsively, Harpo jumped aboard, rushed up to the women's table, sprinkled salt on their menu and gulped it down.

The women did not react as he expected. One of them calmly summoned the steward and commanded, "Kindly give us another menu. This person has eaten ours."

The irascible head man in a big industrial combine has a personal secretary who is invaluable — but also is an inveterate stutterer. This failing often drives the head man to distraction. One morning he exploded, "Tompkins, I've just conceived a wonderful plan to cure your stuttering." "W-w-w-hat is it?" asked the secretary eagerly. The head man snapped, "Just keep that big mouth of yours shut!"

The Allen-Scott Report

Explosive Probe

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

WASHINGTON—The so-called counter-insurgency program — President Kennedy's once loudly-touted plan to assist foreign governments to combat subversion and revolution—is undergoing exhaustive congressional scrutiny.

This unannounced investigation was instituted by Representative Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., veteran chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee. He has set up a large special staff, including a number of borrowed FBI men, to conduct this potentially highly explosive probe.

Cannon decided an extensive inquiry was called for as the result of a number of disconcerting disclosures in the course of his committee's months-long closed-door hearings on the budgets of government agencies. Much of this very revealing testimony will never be published as it has been censored on the ground of being classified information.

But it can be reported that foremost among these backstage discoveries were:

Attorney General Robert Kennedy is the real boss of the Interdepartmental Committee on Counterinsurgency established by his brother, the President, to direct this program. Nominal chairman is Undersecretary of State U. Alexis Johnson, veteran career diplomat with wide experience in Iron Curtain countries. But the real ruler of the program is Bobby Kennedy.

Large amounts of foreign aid and Central Intelligence Agency funds are being used to finance the worldwide activities of the counter-insurgency plan. Most of this money is being spent in organizing, training, equipping and maintaining special police (security) forces.

The Appropriations Committee has ascertained that $3 million a year of such funds is being expended for this purpose in South Vietnam; more than $615,000 in the Dominican Republic during the seven-month regime of deposed President Bosch; and around $500,000 in Honduras, where President Villeda Morales was ousted by a military coup. In each of these government overthrows, the U.S.-financed and trained special police either did nothing or were wholly ineffectual.

Large sums are being spent for special counter-insurgency forces in Peru, Bolivia, Colombia and Venezuela—the last three seriously threatened by Communist terrorists on one hand and military take-overs on the other.

Dear Abby

His Mother Is A Referee!

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who won't let her 12-year-old boy fight his own battles? This mother runs outside every time she hears a disagreement in which her son is involved. My son is part of the neighborhood group of about 12 boys who play together. We have taught our son to be respectful to adults, so when this mother runs out and tells the other boys to quit picking on her son, no kid is going to talk back to her and tell her it's usually her kid who starts it. I am only one of the mothers who doesn't know how to handle this. Can you help us?

ONE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: One of you mothers who is friendly with this woman should tell her that she is hurting her son while trying to help him. Boys must learn to resolve differences a mong themselves. It's part of growing up. Psychiatrists' couches are bathed with the sweat of men whose mothers ran interference for them.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is marrying a girl we all liked very much until she started planning the wedding. She said she didn't want any of those old-fashioned songs, like "Love You Truly" or "Because" played at HER wedding. She wants songs that "mean something" to her and our son. It seems they met and fell in love to a jazz song called "WHAT KIND OF FOOL AM I?" And that, Dear Abby, is what she wants the church organist to play at our son's wedding. I told my son if they play "WHAT KIND OF FOOL AM I" in church they will have to get married without me. Am I wrong?

GROOM'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I think you are probably assuming that the bride plans to walk down the aisle to "WHAT KIND OF FOOL AM I?" She probably has in mind a medley of their favorite songs as a prelude to such ceremonial music as the traditional Lohengrin. P.S. If this is not the plan, see if you can't negotiate it as a compromise.

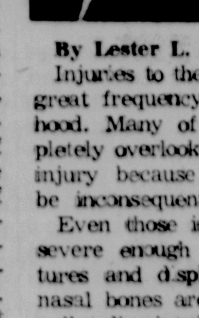

DEAR ABBY: In the apartment building where I live is a couple with a little boy. The husband is a professional man and his wife is a nice appearing woman, but she is letting that little boy slowly starve to death. He is so thin I could cry. Isn't there some way a nurse could be sent to that home to tell that mother to feed her child? I saw the husband in the hall one day and I tried to tell him that his son looked like he needed vitamins, but he didn't seem interested. There should be a law against letting a child grow so thin. He is a very active child, and I've never seen a doctor go into that apartment so I don't think the boy is sickly. Please don't think me a busybody. I just had to tell somebody. Is there anything I can do?

A NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: I think it's safe to assume that the parents are as concerned about their son's health as you are. A child who appears "thin" is not necessarily slowly starving to death. Your intentions are good, but any suggestions would be considered meddling.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Don't Neglect Nasal Injuries

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Injuries to the nose occur with great frequency during childhood. Many of these are completely overlooked at the time of injury because they appear to be inconsequential.

Even those injuries that are severe enough to cause fractures and displacement of the nasal bones are sometimes casually dismissed as another "Boys will be boys" experience during daily play.

Unfortunately, the casual neglect of these injuries deprives the child of the benefits of immediate simple corrective measures. Sometimes, all through adolescence and adulthood, people are plagued by impaired nasal breathing, deviations of the septum and chronic sinusitis because nasal fractures were overlooked in childhood.

Not Usually Serious

It is true that most injuries to the nose cause only swelling and black and blue "shiners" that disappear within a few days. Usually there is little or no damage to the inner structure of the nose.

But it is difficult for parents alone to determine the extent of a nasal injury by its appearance. Waiting to see "what will happen" during the next few days" only adds unnecessary difficulty if a fracture is found to be present.

Any injury to the nose, especially if there is bleeding, deserves an immediate professional opinion. If the doctor feels that X-Rays of the nasal bones are indicated, the results can quickly determine the need for surgery.

Simple fractures of the nasal bones can easily be realigned shortly after the accident. Delays only serve to convert these procedures into more complicated operations.

REMOVING BLOOD CLOTS

When a blood clot forms in one of the large arteries of the body it is exceedingly treacherous, because it interferes with the vital circulation of the blood.

In recent years, surgery has been effective in the removal of these blood clots from arteries that are easily accessible. But, restlessly, science insists on conquering the almost impossible.

By a device recently created by Dr. Thomas J. Fogarty at the University of Oregon, blood clots can now be removed from arteries without the need for open surgery.

How It Works

While still a resident in training, Dr. Fogarty developed a tiny tube with a delicate "balloon" at its tip. This tube, or catheter, can be painlessly introduced into an artery obstructed by a blood clot.

When the tube is gently passed around the clot, the "balloon" is inflated with a small amount of fluid and then slowly withdrawn. The blood clot becomes trapped by the "balloon," which acts almost like a rubber hook as it removes the clot from the artery. Almost immediately, blood begins to flow normally through the newly opened blood vessel.

Weekend Fete Planned At College

EAST STROUDSBURG — "The Journeymen" and the Lester Lanin band will be featured artists at the Fall Weekend to be held on October 25 and 26 at East Stroudsburg State College.

Sponsored by the Weekend Council, a student committee, the Journeymen will present a two-hour concert in the college auditorium on Friday night, October 25. The Journeymen, a talented trio who are pace setters in the present "hootenanny" age, are composed of John Phillips, Dick Weissman and Scott McKenzie. Each member had had considerable training in the musical field and are very popular across the nation.

Lester Lanin's band will provide the music for dancing on Saturday night, October 26, following the afternoon football game between the Warriors of East Stroudsburg State and Millersville State on the college field.

The Weekend Council has made great effort to assure the East Stroudsburg State College students of the best Fall Weekend activities possible.

Employment Plan Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reps. John H. Dent, D-Pa., and Carlton R. Sikes, D-Md., proposed Wednesday a $500 million program they said would promote full employment in the 11-state Appalachian region.

Dent suggested, in view of the limited nuclear test ban treaty, using money already budgeted for nuclear testing in the atmosphere to accelerate economic growth in the Appalachians.

Dent said bills he and Sikes introduced would provide $500 million to accelerate existing federal programs in the area, especially highway and airport construction.

Judges Campaign At GOP Meeting

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — State Atty. Gen. Walter Alesandroni and Judges J. Calvin Wright and Harold L. Ervin of Pennsylvania Superior Court attended a Republican dinner meeting here Tuesday night.

Judges Wright and Ervin are seeking re-election to Superior Court under the GOP banner.

Before the dinner, Alesandroni told a news conference that Gov. Scranton has agreed to become Pennsylvania's favorite son candidate for the Republican presidential nomination next year in order to hold the state's votes together. Scranton himself had also said this recently.

Bi-Level House Of The Week Has Growing Room In Reserve

Mirrored Planter Is An Eye-Catcher

A small house that can grow right along with a family is the goal of many young couples. But finding one isn't easy — one that actually does grow, not one that just provides extra space for a future bedroom.

After all, adequate sleeping space solves only part of a family's housing problem. It's when everybody is awake and a active that overcrowded conditions become really unbearable.

Today's House of the Week is a complete three bedroom home of less than 1,300 square feet. But, when family expansion demands and financial conditions permit, an entire floor can be developed, adding a fourth bedroom, second full bath, recreation room and other features. In other words, it holds in reserve for the future both the daytime and nighttime space an expanding family requires.

The house is a bi-level design whose traditional styling will remain in vogue for years to come. The architect is Rudolph A. Matern, and the house is design J-96 in the weekly series.

A bi-level is simply a one-story home which has been raised out of the ground so the basement becomes liveable too; and the front door dropped a half flight so it's at grade level. It's the basement area of this home which can be finished later, and most of the work can be done by a handy husband.

Meanwhile the area plainly is not surplus — it still serves as a basement, the laundry facilities are down there, and so is a full two-car garage, at least a $1,500 item if built in addition to the house.

The house is a simple rectangular plan in modest dimensions of 44 feet six inches wide by 28 feet nine inches deep. A portico with four stately columns projects seven feet into the front and is 28 feet nine inches wide. The main level contains 1,279 square feet of living area not including the porch; the lower level contains an additional 580 square feet not counting the garage storage room and heater room.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS
An excellent feature of the house

STATELY AND ECONOMICAL: This handsome bi-level contains four bedrooms and two full baths, yet its basic area is only 1,279 square feet. The lower level holds 580 square feet of bonus living area which can be developed when needed. The architect is Rudolph A. Matern.

is the second set of stairs in the rear, greatly simplifying movement between the two levels. Moreover, the rear stair railing is built as a dramatic balcony for the breakfast table.

The front stair also shows creative use of wrought iron. An iron grill, not a railing, provides privacy as well as a decorative touch to the living room. A mirrored planter and vanity niche is another eye-catcher at the entry foyer. The living room is a spacious 18 feet by 15 feet, but the rear portion of it actually has the effect of being 22 feet wide considering the area in front of the most closet and planter. A log burning fireplace complements the iron grill on the opposite wall, and the formal dining room adjoins in a connecting ell.

One of the finest features of the home is the kitchen, interestingly arranged and efficient at the same time. Double windows are above the double sink, offering excellent supervision of the backyard. The rear service entry is down a half flight of stairs, equally accessible to both levels.

When the lower level is completed it will produce more than 230 square feet of recreation area as well as a well-organized laundry, bathroom and corner bedroom. This doesn't mean there will be no room left for storage — architect Matern has provided more than 500 cubic feet of storage space at the rear of the garage, not to mention the extra space in the heater room.

Just as bulk storage space is not lacking, neither is closet space. On the main level alone there are nine closets containing a total of 368 cubic feet; and on the lower level there are large closets in both the bedroom and bathroom, and plenty of shelf or cabinet space in the 60-square-foot laundry.

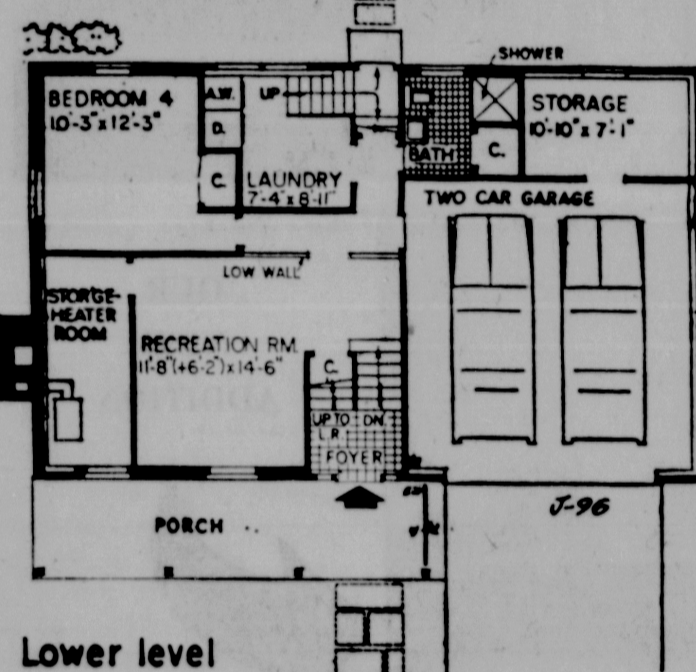

As a further economy measure, the bathrooms of both levels are on the same plumbing stack. The main bath, with its double-sink vanity and recessed tub, is accessible from the living and sleeping areas. The lower bath is convenient not only to the downstairs rooms but also the backyard and garage.

Want to get an argument started? Place a paint brush manufacturer in the same room with a paint roller manufacturer. Ask which of their products is better. Then duck.

Nobody's ever going to settle this long-standing controversy, because the decision of the home handyman is based so much on personal preference. But whichever you use, here are some tips that will make your job easier and your result better:

PAINT BRUSHES — A quality brush usually will last more than twice as long as one which costs half as much. Also, a good brush will not shed much, picks up more paint and spreads it more smoothly. For large flat surfaces, a four-inch brush is recommended.

A trim or sash brush about two inches wide is best for woodwork, paneling and trim. A flat or oval sash brush from one to three inches is good for sashes, trellises, etc. Aside from those mentioned, there are many other types and sizes for particular tasks.

When using oil paints, clean the brush with turpentine or mineral spirits. For shellac, use denatured alcohol. For latex paints and others in that category (check the label), use water. Never use a nylon brush for applying shellac.

A brush which is to be stored for any considerable period of time should be cleaned, then wrapped in aluminum foil, wax paper, newspaper, oilcloth or any similar type of wrapping. In storing, be certain that the bristles are not bent.

PAINT ROLLERS — All paint rollers are not alike. Those made from lambwool are excellent for most oil paints, but not for enamels or water-thinned latex paints. Rollers made from synthetic fibers and mohair can be used with all types of paint, with the mohair especially good for enamels.

The length of the nap or pile also is important. Use short-napped rollers for most walls, ceilings, woodwork and smooth concrete. Use long naps for brick, stucco, wire fences and other irregular surfaces. The smoother the surface to be painted, the shorter the nap of the roller. The rougher the surface, the longer the nap.

On vertical surfaces, the first stroke should be upward even if the general direction of the painting is downward. Follow with a downstroke and then roll crosswise. Start rolling in a dry area and toward one just painted, blending in the laps. Splattering is caused by rolling too fast and by spinning the roller at the end of the stroke.

Dishwashing Quieter
Automatic dishwashers today are virtually noiseless, thanks to continual engineering improvements over the years.

Helpful Painting Hints

Special Effects With Paint

The do-it-yourselfer can duplicate many of the specialized wall effects used by leading interior designers to give added interest and flair to their creations. Thanks to the variety of modern, quality paints available and their ease of application, these very attractive wall effects take only a little more time to achieve than ordinary painting, and the results are more than worth it.

Textured paint gives depth to the walls and its handsome, rough finish blends beautifully with all decor styles. In addition, the heavy consistency of texture paint fills small holes and cracks, making it the perfect camouflage for old, scored walls that would normally require replastering.

While the texture paint is still wet, create a random pattern by going over the surface with a special roller, whisk broom, comb or other object that will make a design. Decorators often give a texture finish an individual touch by drawing stylized birds, plants and other assorted figures and designs. You, too, can do it. Simply draw free hand an outline of whatever you choose, using an unsharpened pencil or similar object. If you wish to make the impressions more outstanding, fill them in with a slightly deeper color when dry.

Stripping is another fashionable wall treatment. Paint the walls in the chosen background color. Let dry. Then, using masking tape, which must be securely fastened to the surface, mark off the areas to be striped in the desired widths. Paint these designated areas in the contrasting color of your preference. Let dry thoroughly, then remove the strips of masking tape. Presto! The walls are no longer a backdrop; they are one of the most exciting features in the room. Incidentally, striped walls do wonders to increase the size of a small room.

Stippling the walls produces a very decorative effect and gives them dimension. A glance through the decorating magazines will reveal how popular a process it is. Paint the walls the background color and let them completely dry. Then, using a stippling roller — they come in a wide assortment of design-producing sleeves — go over the dry walls in a contrasting color of your choice.

If you wish, you can create a random, mottled effect by applying the color to be stippled with a sponge or crumpled paper. Stippling covers a multitude of "sins" as well as giving a unique extra touch; the patterned finish hides small surface irregularities.

The multi-color wall enjoys great popularity, probably because it appeals to all age brackets and both the feminine and masculine tastes. Multi-color paint produces two or more colors at one time from one source. Its beautiful, color-flecked pattern makes dirt smudges and surface marks unnoticeable. For this reason, multi-color is as practical as it is handsome.

Applied by spray or roller, multi-color comes in a wide assortment of color combinations. Perfect for children's rooms, this attractive coating can be had in very formal assortments, including the color combinations which contain flecks of silver or gold.

Whichever special wall effect you choose to create, be sure you use only a quality paint made by a reputable manufacturer. You deserve the best; demand it. The best quality; it's your assurance of superior results and complete satisfaction because its top grade raw materials give it the good hiding power, non-fading color and long lasting finish you have a right to expect.

SOON TO BE ON THE ROAD AGAIN — Raymond Price Sr. of Cresco, stands beside a 1926 model Ford now in his garage for an overhauling. Price sold many of this model. He has been a Ford dealer since Oct. 1, 1913. (Staff Photo by Shafer)

Recalls Early Days Raymond Price, Sr., Marks 50th Year As Car Dealer In County

By Jim Shafer
Daily Record Reporter

CRESO—“When you say you have been doing something for 50 years it sounds like a long time and I guess it is, but when you enjoy your work time flies by very fast and it really doesn't seem that long,” Raymond Price, Sr., said yesterday as he looked back over his 50 years as a Ford dealer in Monroe County.

Yesterday Price was honored at a luncheon in High Point Inn by officials of Ford Motor Co. This was their salute to a man who has dedicated his life to selling cars, their cars.

He was granted his dealership on Oct. 1, 1913, when there were very few miles of paved roads outside of the boroughs, and only eight or ten cars in Barrett Township.

“When I started here in this very building there was only one mile of paved road in the township, to the best of my knowledge. The road started at Buck Hill Falls and continued on toward Mountainhome.”

The original garage stands on the same spot it was built and is used every day for business. The original building is now the section housing the display room and the parts department.

“When I started in the business there was myself and Roy Carlton working here. Roy has since left me and I really don't know where or what he is doing now,” Price said.

He continued, “I had worked as a mechanic in East Orange, N. J., and came into the area to work in a boarding house as a jitney mechanic. It was here I saw the change from horse to car and I thought I'd do well to get into the business of cars.”

“When Roy came with me I had to teach him many things in the mechanical field of Fords, but he was a good student and everything went along just fine,” he concluded.

The original dealership included six townships. They were Price, Barrett, Coolbaugh, Tunkhannock, Paradise and Tobyhanna.

“When I started in business I thought if I could stay in business for six months I'd be all right and if I stayed one year I'd be on my way,” Price said.

He continued, “The cars came to dealers in box cars. There were six to a car and they were completely disassembled. We had to bring them to the garage and assemble them.”

Price, in the selling of a car, had to teach the person buying the car, and possibly another member of the family, to drive.

“This was, in most cases, a pretty easy job. Of the many people I taught to drive I can only think of several that gave me a scare. I won't mention their names, but the one that I recall very vividly is a man who came to buy a car. We went for a short drive with him behind the wheel and the next thing I knew we were in a ditch. Neither of us was hurt but I sure was surprised.”

When Price went into the business, little was done to remove snow from the roads. In most cases the car owners put their cars on jacks or blocks for the winter. But Price soon got around this.

“Several winters after I was in business a doctor friend of mine and a customer told me he had to have his car in the winter so he could get from home to home while making his house calls,” he said.

Price continued, “The only thing to do was cut the front and rear axles and their housings to the same width of a sleigh. So I started on a second hand car I had. I cut the axles down and finished the car in a relatively short time. I then took it out in snow to try it out. It really worked out well.”

During the interview Price spoke of many things of the “old days.” He noted that cars were often sold by trading with a prospective buyer.

“I have traded a car for a dog, shotgun, a team of mules, and even for a sawmill. I guess a fellow had to be a good trader to get ahead,” Price said.

He continued, “But the real secret was good hard work to get ahead. There is no substitute for work and man just has to get out and hustle, be honest, and be business-like when working.”

In 1941 Price purchased a garage in Stroudsburg and set up his Mercury and Lincoln agency. In 1946 he put his son, Raymond Price, Jr., in charge of the operation. In the same year another son, Richard, went to work in the Cresco garage.

Now 73 years old, and not looking more than 50, Price looks forward to becoming the oldest Ford dealer in the county. In 1961 he was the ninth oldest in the state and in July 1962 he was the 120th oldest in the nation.

State Ponders Problems Of College Space In Future

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's 130 colleges have given the new State Council of Higher Education a problem to ponder.

The institutions say they will have sufficient accommodations available through this decade and into the 1970s to handle projected enrollments.

At the same time, however, their reports have raised the question whether their expected facilities will be adequate to handle undergraduate enrollments or whether the expansion in accommodations is to be geared for graduate students.

The institutions were surveyed this past summer by the Department of Public Instruction. The reports covered 14 state-owned colleges, 15 state-aided institutions, 66 private and non-state-supported institutions, 18 theological seminaries, 16 junior colleges and the Pennsylvania State University.

Projections Made
For 1965, they reported they expect to have accommodations for 208,616 students while the department's forecasts project enrollments at 192,409 students.

In 1970, the institutions said, they will be able to handle 264,304 students. The department forecasts an enrollment of 250,526 students.

In 1975, the institutions plan accommodations for 292,732 students against projected enrollments of 306,233.

While that would indicate a shortage of about 13,500 places, the department notes that only 61.5 per cent of the 130 institutions projected 1975 accommodations. To reach a total facilities available, the department simply assumed that the institutions that failed to reply would have at least the same number of accommodations as in 1970.

Conceivably, the unresponding institutions could increase facilities for 1975 if they perceived a need for them, thus easily wiping out the shortage projected now.

On the other hand, the institutions say their planned accommodations for 1975 assumed 9 per cent of the enrollment would be in graduate schools and 91 per cent in undergraduate or two-year schools.

However, in 1962, the actual division of students was 56.3 per cent in undergraduate or two-year work and 3.7 per cent in graduate work.

Thus, the question for the council is where the future expansion in enrollments will have the greatest impact.

The council is charged by the new law creating the State Board of Education (the council is a division of the board) with developing a master plan of education.

Sales Increase Is Predicted

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—A 21 per cent increase in sales for the coming year was forecast by the Piper Aircraft Corp.

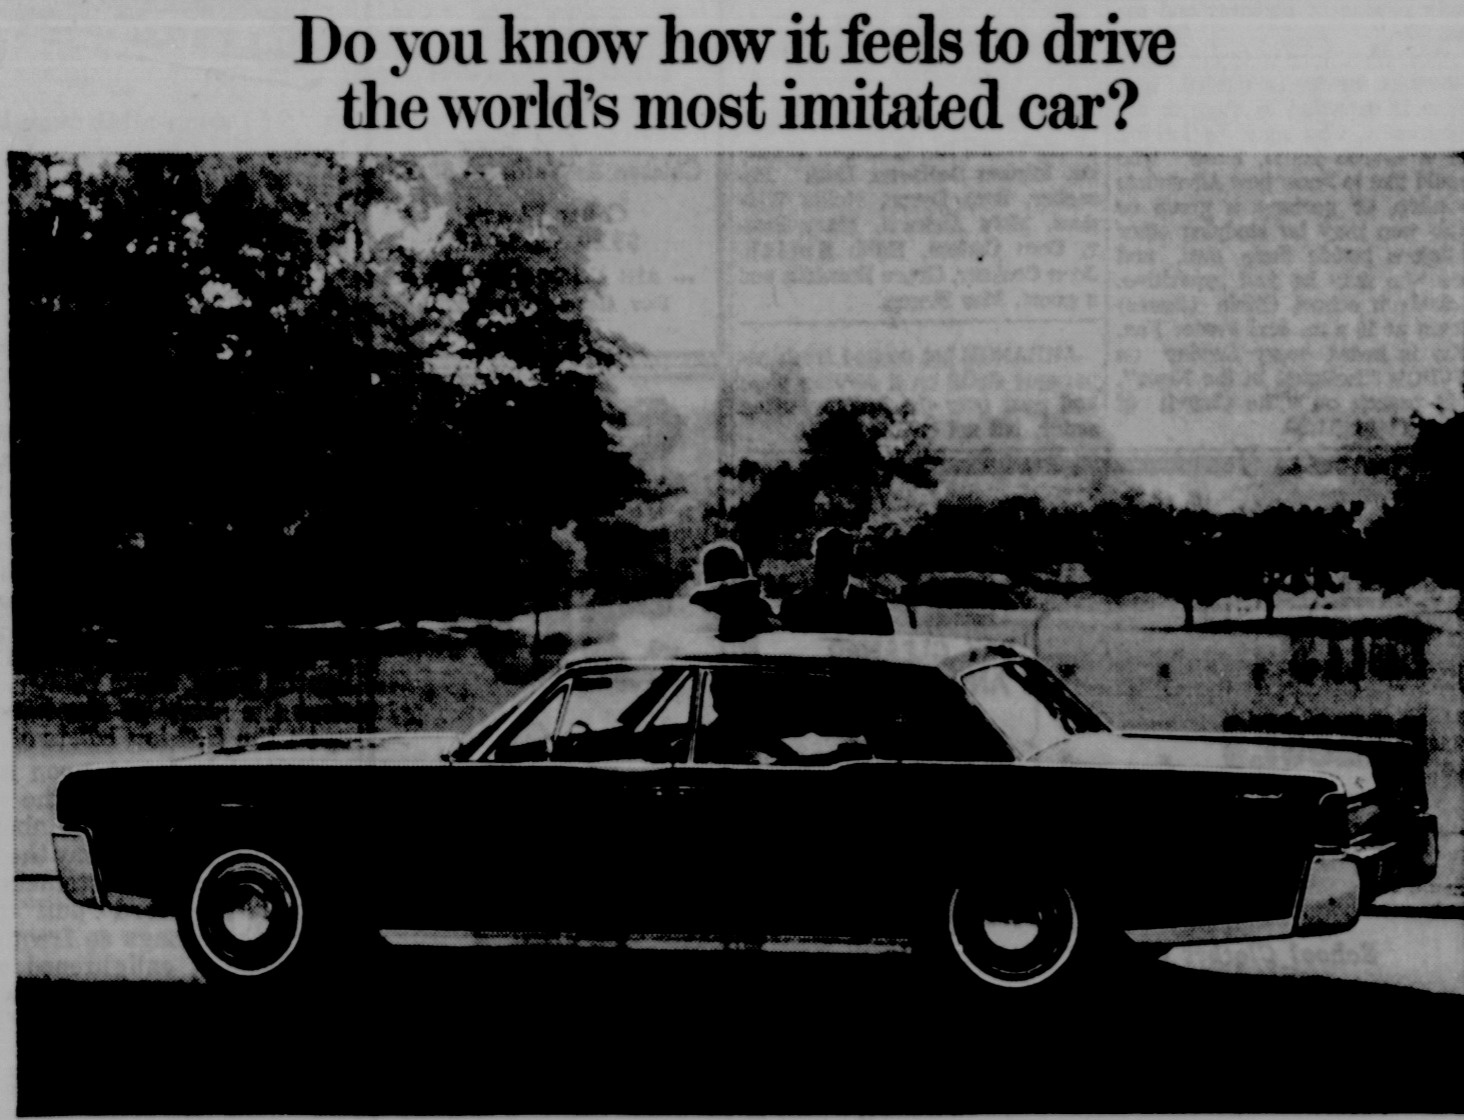

William T. Piper Jr., executive vice president, said corporate sales for the next fiscal year would probably be $46 million, compared with $38 million for the fiscal year just ended.

Piper said the reason for the optimistic forecast was the recent introduction of two new models—the twin engine Twin Comanche and the all purpose single engine Cherokee 235. The Comanche is produced at the company's main plant at Lock Haven, Pa., and the Cherokee is manufactured at the Piper plant at Vero Beach, Fla.

Curtis To Pay Late Dividend

NEW YORK (AP)—Curtis Publishing Co. will pay dividends in arrears on two classes of preferred stock, subject to stockholder approval of a management-backed financing plan.

Experience the Continental. Discover its greater spaciousness, unsurpassed ride and all the other qualities that set this car apart.

More than half the people who buy in our price range choose the Continental.

Come in, and inspect the new Continental yourself. Its profile is only three inches longer than in 1961-2-3. Yet you will find a roomier rear compartment, with four inches more leg room and 2.5 inches more knee room than in 1963. This makes for twice the knee room of the 1961 and 1962 Continental. And the luggage compartment is 15% larger, for a total increase of 33% over 1961-2.

But with all this added space, the Continental retains all the qualities that set it apart from every other automobile:

1. Timeless styling is a prime reason the Continental retains so high a value.
2. The Continental is available in just two models: the sedan and the convertible. There are no lower priced models, because there is no compromise of its standards to offer lesser versions.
3. Both the sedan and the convertible have four doors opening at the center for the easiest entrance. Continental offers the only American four-door convertible.
4. The unusual rigidity of integral construction contributes to its unequalled ride.

5. Within, virtually every luxury is included as standard equipment.
6. The Continental also includes full power auxiliaries as standard equipment.
7. The Continental is built at Wixom, Michigan, in a special plant which sets the world's highest standards of precision automotive engineering.
8. No other car is so thoroughly tested. Every Continental must pass 189 road performance tests in addition to thousands of examinations and inspections during manufacture.
9. The Continental is uniquely free from maintenance. It is constructed to last.

Before you decide on your next automobile, drive the Continental. It is the world's finest automobile. Please call us and we will be happy to arrange a demonstration at your convenience.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Politics and PTA's are piling up stories like autumn leaves these days. While the leaves are falling about a week earlier than usual, the PTA's and politicians are getting a later start, but they're all out to make up for lost time, that's for sure.

In fact, every organization has been so busy that I had to go to bowling to catch up on news about anything else. Unhappily the news wasn't the kind to rejoice over. Mary Morganthau, in the midst of settling in her new home in Shawnee, was called to take care of a grandchild while her daughter had an emergency operation.

Betty and Bob Schell have been practically commuting back and forth to Sparta where young Bob's wife, Kay, is in the hospital after a serious automobile accident on Friday. While her condition is still critical with fractures from her nose to her ankles, she's much better than she was.

Incidental Intelligence: It isn't just the unexpectedly warm weather that's bringing out all the long white dresses these days, it's the annual official visit of the Supreme President, or Royal Grand, or Grand Royal Matron or whatever resounding title the individual lodges have for their top officers.

A long white dress and a short white dress, depending on the formality of the occasion, is as necessary a part of the wardrobe of a lady lodge member as a Scout uniform for Scouts, the little black dress for a woman's club president, or sweaters and skirts for the school girl.

Speaking of wardrobes, the matter of what to wear will be considerably simplified when the temperature settles down to less than a 20 degree variation within 12 hours.

Sisterhood Rummage Sale

East Stroudsburg — The Temple Israel Sisterhood is preparing for its week-long rummage sale which will open Oct. 21 at the 70 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, next to the East Stroudsburg Building and Loan Assn.

Mrs. Ben Wilkins is chairman and Mrs. Meyer Boyers, 421 1247 and Mrs. Herbert Schloss, 421 1699 will pick up donations.

Pleasant Valley FHA Dance

Brodheadsville — The Future Homemakers of America at the Pleasant Valley Junior-Senior High School are sponsoring a record hop to be held tonight from 8 to 11 p.m.

"Autumn Leaves" will be the theme of the decorations and there will be entertainment following the dance.

Kropp-Bishop Wedding In Gettysburg Presbyterian

Gettysburg — Miss Marjorie C. Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bishop, of Gettysburg, became the bride of David L. Kropp, of Canadensis, on Oct. 5 at the Presbyterian Church of Gettysburg.

Mr. Kropp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kropp, of Canadensis.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert A. MacAskill. Music was by Mrs. M. Scott Moorhead, who played selections by Handel and Bach with "Trumpet Tune" by Purcell for the processional.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory brocade with a fitted bodice, bateau neckline and long sleeves tapering over the wrists. Her dome-shaped skirt was pleated at the waist and terminated in a chapel-train. Her tiered veil of silk illusion was arranged from a petal and lily of the valley headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Miss Patricia Broughton, of Lewistown, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of antique gold peau de soie with a fitted bodice and detachable overskirt. She carried a fall arrangement of rust-colored flowers.

Miss Lovey Kopetz, of Wilkes-Barre, as bridesmaid, wore a matching gown of willow green and carried a floral arrangement of Fall flowers.

Richard Metzgar, of Philadelphia, was best man. Ushers were Donald Kropp, of Middle Haddam, Conn., brother of the bridegroom, and John Campbell, of Cresco.

The bride's mother wore a dress of cranberry red crepe with beige accessories and a corsage of white mums. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige wool dress with brown and green accessories and a corsage of white mums.

Community Round-Table Dinner Set

Swiftwater — A community round-table discussion on two matters of immediate interest has been scheduled for Tuesday night at the Paradise Community Center. Up for discussion will be Project 70 which will be presented on the ballot in November for state-wide voter decision, and the need for a Monroe County planning commission.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Pocono Mountain Council of Republican Women, who have invited families to attend. They have also invited persons from the community interested in the two subjects to join them at the head table at the dinner meeting. There will be no charge for the dinner, with a toss-in pot for contributions from the diners, and the public is invited.

Mrs. John Britton of the League of Women Voters; John Withrow, Monroe County Agricultural Representative and John Price, candidate for county commissioners, have already accepted. The president, Miss H. Elsie Bryan, will lead a free discussion with audience participation.

The roast beef dinner will be served at 6:30 with food and table service provided by the council. County and local candidates are especially invited.

The following committees are working: menu, Miss Hazel Hartman, Mount Pocono; hostess, Miss June Heydt, Cresco; arrangements and decorations, Mrs. A. George Hahn, Cresco; reservations, Mrs. Herbert Shurbough, Mount Pocono; program, Mrs. David Bishong, Mount Pocono; clean-up, Mrs. Roderick Donaldson, Cresco.

Kitchen Table Campaign At Council Meet

Swiftwater — Political campaigning took a new turn at the Tuesday night meeting of the Young Women's Council of Republican Women held at the home of Mrs. James D. Van Hovenberg, president.

Candidates and members crowded around the kitchen table after the meeting faced by two large plates piled with "butter-milk puffs" and cider, for the informal campaigning.

Mary Emma Gardia, candidate for County Auditor, revealed that she has served as auditor for 20 years. John Price, candidate for County Commissioner, told of how he had built up a business during the depression years. Jeannette Batory, candidate for re-election as register and recorder, hoped for better lighting in those offices. Ruth Sluter was out of town and Stanley Rader is resting on doctor's orders; both sent regrets.

Council members agreed to assist the candidates in a telephone chain and by working on absentee ballots, and distributing car stickers and cards.

The campaigning followed the first Fall meeting when Mrs. van Hovenberg presented the official charter and a letter of congratulations from the state council president, Mrs. Samuel L. Velich to be placed in the council's scrap book by Miss Kathy Williams, chairman.

The regular meeting date was officially changed from the first Monday to the second Tuesday of each month with recess in July and August. The next meeting will be held Nov. 12 at the home of Mrs. August R. Grant, Stroudsburg RD 3.

Members adopted the state finance committee's project "Operation Caring Co-op" as their money making project with Mrs. John Egert, Finance chairman, in charge.

Members and their husbands were invited to the community dinner sponsored by the Pocono Council at the Paradise Municipal Building, Oct. 15.

A program on "Things to Do for Christmas" will mark the Dec. 10 meeting at the PP & L Service Center in Stroudsburg.

Visitors Day At Adventist Church Saturday

Stroudsburg — Saturday, Oct. 12, has been set aside by members of the Stroudsburg Seventh-day Adventist church as "Visitors Day", and special services will be designed for friends of all faiths.

Lay leaders of the local congregation said, "this is the day especially planned for those with whom we rub shoulders in our daily routine of business and social life."

Although all are welcome at any Adventist service, a cordial welcome is extended to those in the community who may be looking for a church home, those who would like to know how Adventists worship, or perhaps a group or club who may be studying other religions beside their own, and one who may be just inquisitive.

Sabbath school (Bible classes) begin at 10 a.m. and Pastor Fox, who is heard every Sunday on WVO's "Religion in the News", will preach on "The Church of Future" at 11:30.

The regular meeting date was officially changed from the first Monday to the second Tuesday of each month with recess in July and August. The next meeting will be held Nov. 12 at the home of Mrs. August R. Grant, Stroudsburg RD 3.

Let's talk Fashion

We don't know how keen you are on raking leaves, but we do know how fetching you look in the slacks we've got to rival the flaming foliage from a red that glows like a sugar maple to the rich shades of oak, green and gold — and, just to be different, a prim bankers' grey in a pin stripe. They don't come with a guarantee that they'll produce an admiring male to do the raking, but we wouldn't be surprised.

We would be surprised if somebody doesn't ask you for a hike if you are equipped with our walking skirts, in the short kilt variety or the wrap-around culotte. Both slacks and skirts can be coordinated with those big bulky sweaters with the hand-knit look that seems to go with hunt breakfasts and country manors.

Even if you're just a sissy sit-by-the-fire, they're hard to resist. After all, you can always turn down the thermostat and sit there looking picturesque and as cuddly as a kitten.

If I seem a bit more knowledgeable today than yesterday it's because I've just been through Vassar. Not the college—the Import Bag Company which has been located on First street, right here in Stroudsburg, for 33 years. Stopping to think about it, it seems incredible I had never before visited the Vassar plant. As a woman, I realize that a handbag is not only a necessity but, along with a hat and shoes, the most important accessory for any costume. It is strange that never before did I question how handbags are designed or manufactured . . . what materials go into them, or how one can distinguish a good bag from a poor one at a glance.

There are approximately 85 persons in Vassar's employ. In the office is my friend, Hilda Kitzman, a vice president of our local Business and Professional Women's Club. Most of the other employees may be seen at a glance, diligently working at long tables, or behind sewing machines or other equipment stretched out in well-ordered rows. At the far end of the building is a room stocked from floor to ceiling with leathers, reptile skins, foam rubber, and bolts of fabric. It is here that the story of the handbag begins — a story based upon the fashion edicts of the particular moment.

Stretched out upon a table was a side of a cow, ready to be used in the making of approximately six handbags to retail at about 10.95 apiece. This handsome piece of hide was the Seton puff leather so familiar to our Wyckoff customers. Until that moment, I had thought the word "puff" referred to the puff style in which these bags so frequently appear. My host, Martin Sommer, enlightened me. The Seton company has perfected a method of actually puffing leather to give it the bulk so necessary in handbag manufacture. It is tight-grained and hardy. It costs 4c a foot more than other leathers, and is well worth every penny, for it is completely washable, butter-soft and resilient, and impervious to almost all marring. A scratch upon its surface can readily be wiped out. When it is colored, the color is force-sprayed into the pores, and will never fade. If Vassar taught me nothing but this, it was well worth the trip!

From the time a handbag is die-cut on a formidably large machine, it receives skilled and often tedious attention through some 15 or 16 departments before finally being inspected and cleared for shipment. I cannot begin to enumerate these steps, but I do know that many bags are pelted lined, in the manner of fine wearing apparel, to give them extra body and increase wear. The inter-lining of many bags is a very heavy paper (almost a cardboard) onto which foam rubber siding is cemented. Fabric linings are made in a separate operation, with the zippered compartments resembling small cosmetic bags when completed.

Perhaps the two trickiest steps in handbag manufacture are the hand-covering of the frame, and the inserting of the bag itself into that frame. There are machines that cover frames, of course, but at Vassar this work was being done by hand, and it requires a great deal of skill. When done properly, there is not one bit of gathering along corners or curves. This is the mark of hand-done, custom work. In less expensive bags one can easily spot "shirring" at the sides.

When frame and handbag are put together, precision is once again demanded. If the frame is improperly attached, the bag will be uneven, or it may be crushed and lose the beauty of its lines. If a handbag is returned to the manufacturer, the most common reason is because of some flaw in this very important final step.

GOP Candidates Campaign At Saylorburg Clambake

SAYLORSBURG — More than 300 Monroe County residents attended the Saylorburg clambake on Sunday, sponsored by the Monroe County Republican Committee. Candidates Edward Metzger, for Sheriff; John Price, for County Commissioner; Jeanette Butry, for Register and Recorder; Ruth Slutter, for Prothonotary; and V. R. Fritzgerald for county auditor, used the opportunity to do some personal campaigning.

Harold Kresge, chairman of the Fall campaign, spoke briefly, stressing absentee voting. Ballots must be completed and returned to the County Board of Elections by Oct. 29, he said.

There were games for children and adults and square dancing and folk singing by the Sugar Mountain Ramblers.

Fischer Quints All Bottle Fed

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — The Fischer quintuplets are getting along very well, attendants at St. Luke's Hospital said Tuesday night.

The four girls and one boy, born Sept. 14 to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer, are all being bottle fed, as of last Sunday. A nurse said they are taking the formula well.

The formula amounts have not been increased or decreased, and the babies have not been weighed this week. At the latest check, their weight ranged from 3 pounds, 4 ounces to 4 pounds, 13 ounces. Doctors have said the infants will be sent home when they weigh about 5 1/2 pounds.

Scholastic East-West Tilts Highlight Weekend Action

HARRISBURG (AP) — East meets West this weekend in another chapter of the age-old battle over where high school football is supreme.

Easton, a perennial power in the East, tangles with Altoona, one of the prides of the West, this Saturday at Altoona.

Both teams have lost once this season, but the Mountain Lions hold a slim 2-1 edge over Easton.

In their three game series, winning 32-14 last year and 33-0 in 1961, after dropping the opener 21-6 in 1960.

Based on the home advantage and the strength of those 199 points Altoona scored in its first five games this year, we're picking the Mountain Lions to notch their third straight over the Red Rovers.

Some other guesses:

Beaver over Freedom—No. 24 for the Beavers as they shake the jinx that hit three teams before them.

Harrisburg Harris over Steelton-Highspire — the Pioneers have a winning streak to preserve too, at 17 straight.

McKeesport over Johnstown — the Tigers have Bob Bazlak who has completed 83 of 142 passes for 1,188 yards and 11 touchdowns in just five games.

Bald Eagle Area over Chief Logan—a stab in the dark on this battle of unbeaten.

Sunbury over Lewisburg—Stick with the winner, the man says, and Sunbury is unbeaten.

Wrong Pick?

Neshaminy over Allentown Die-ruff—maybe we should say it the other way.

Corry over Titusville—the best in the northwest wins No. 6.

Williamsport over Lebanon—the Millionaires look like a million in that Central Penn race.

Danville over Milton—Even with their star Jack Curry injured, the Ironmen should have little trouble notching their 17th.

Abington over Norristown—the experts pick Abington for the Suburban One crown.

Butler over Sharon—Bill Rettig, Butler's picture painting fullback, could lead the Tornadoes to the WPIAL Class AA championship.

Laurel Valley over Saltsburg—this just isn't the week for the Trojans to snap that 37 game losing streak.

In The West

The West — Punxsutawney over Clearfield, Bedford over Cresson,

Indiana over Curwensville, Johnstown Bishop McCort over Ebsen-

burg Bishop Carroll, Meyersdale over Turkeyfoot Valley, Somerset

over Cumberland (Md.) LaSalle,

Ambridge over Pittsburgh Central Catholic, New Castle over Farrell, Charlertown over Uniontown, Kane over Bradford, Greenville over Mercer, Grove City over Franklin, Oil City over Meadville, Erie East over Erie McDowell.

In The East

The East—Lancaster over Harrisburg Penn, York over Reading,

Harrisburg Bishop McDevitt over Cedar Cliff, Mount Carmel over Coal Twp., Minersville over Hazleton, Berwick over Bloomsburg, Chambersburg over South Hagerstown, Lock Haven over Lewisston, Hanover over Susquehannaock, Gettysburg over Northern, Darby Colwyn over Ridley Park, Coatesville over West Chester, Allentown Allen over Bethlehem, Sayre over Waverly, Scranton Tech over Wilkes-Barre Meyers.

We went over the .800 mark again last week on our pickin' percentage with 33 right (eight of them by one point), eight wrong and two ties. Overall average for the year is 95 right, 25 wrong and three ties for .791.

to their own," also declares: "I think we'll do a good job against Pen Argyl."

Petechel also describes the Stroud Union ballclub as "very aggressive with some good speed."

While Stroud Union was winning its first game of the season last Saturday at Palmerton, 19-13, the Green Knights were whipping

Cataqua, 42-19, for their third straight of the campaign and sixth in a row since bowing to Hellertown last year, 14-7.

Stulgaitis' shift of Bob Roberson to fullback and placing Bill Howard at the other halfback slot along with Glenn Bisping has given the Mountaineers a jazzed-up offense. Neil Trunsue also is likely to see some action at fullback during the course of the evening.

Same Lineups

Both Petechel and Stulgaitis plan to go along with the same starting lineups as last week.

Although Terry Young, stellar sophomore backfield agent for the Knights, suffered a slight neck injury against Catty last week, he has been pronounced "fit and ready" for tonight's clash. Young, who has been one of the surprising factors in the Pen Argyl offensive this year, was highly praised for his efforts last week by Petechel.

While both teams occasionally take to the air, they stay on the ground most of the time. Stulgaitis, however, has been trying to get a solid passing attack going. "If we can do that," says Jerry,

"we're all set."

For Ryder Cup

Britons Spring 'Babes' On U.S.

ATLANTA (AP) — The British sprang a surprise and named the two "babes" of their team—Brian Huggert and George Will—to face Arnold Palmer and Johnny Pott in the opening foursome match Friday in the 15th Ryder Cup golf series.

Huggert, a stocky, 5-foot-6 Welshman, and Will, a Scotsman, each is 26. Neither has ever played in a Ryder Cup match before.

John Fallon, the wily, gray-haired Scotsman who leads the invading professionals from overseas, acknowledged Thursday that he had a suspicion that Palmer would nominate himself in the first match and his No. 1 pairing was contrived.

Palmer, the playing U.S. captain, mixed seasoning with inexperience in his line-up for the first four of eight matches scheduled on opening day. Four other matches will be played in the afternoon, with the teams to be announced after the morning 18-hole contests. In foursome play, the two team members hit alternate shots.

Here's how they square off, starting at 8 a.m. EST, over the 6,898-yard, par 70 East Lake Country Club course which is a virtual shrine for the great Bobby Jones:

8 a.m. — Arnold Palmer and Johnny Potts, U.S., vs. Brian Huggert and George Will, Britain.

8:15 a.m. — Bill Casper Jr., U.S., and Dave Ragan Jr., U.S., vs. Peter Alliss and Christy O'Connor, Britain.

8:30 a.m. — Gene Littler and Dow Finsterwald, U.S., vs. Dave Thomas and Harry Weetman, Britain.

8:45 a.m. — Julius Boros and Tony Lema, U.S., vs. Neil Coles and Bernard Hunt, Britain.

Eight best-ball team matches, with each player hitting his own ball, will follow Saturday with 16 individual contests Sunday.

Plans to attend the Eagles-Redskins game in December also will be discussed at that time.

The younger boys touch football team of the Y will play its first game against Barrett Y on Saturday at 1 p. m. on the former Mt. Pocono school field.

Coaches See Tough Game Tonight

Unbeaten Green Knights Storm Into Stroudsburg

STROUDSBURG — Undeclared Pen Argyl High School storms into Gordon Giffels Field tonight to lock horns with the Mountaineers of Stroud Union.

Neither coach is promising anything as both Edwood Petechel, pilot of the Green Knights, and Jerry Stulgaitis, Stroud Union mentor, look for a tough game.

Petechel says he is looking upon this battle as "the toughest game for us so far."

"Good Job"

Stulgaitis, who feels his Mountaineers are "starting to come in-

Bangor Meets Wilson

Moconyi Offers 'Something New'

BANGOR — Coach Andy Moconyi has "something new" up his sleeve for tonight's gridiron clash against invading Wilson Borg at Bangor Stadium but even late last night he wasn't saying much about it.

"We will try to run a different formation on offense," was all Moconyi would say about the change.

In Wilson, Moconyi says "We think it will be one of the toughest games we face all year

— they have two tremendous backs in Werkheiser and Kurliko and they have a real fine end in this Lisko."

Hard Runners

Moconyi believes his Slaters will be faced with a rugged running offense by the Warriors.

"We think their best game is their running game," explained

Andy, "but they come up with a quick pass or a long pass now and then which can really hurt you."

There is one casualty among the Slaters' starting lineup.

Glenn Grigg was injured in a late scrimmage yesterday while the team was going over the type of offense Wilson runs. It was not yet known late last night just how serious the injury may be.

Wilson will have a slight edge over the Slaters in weight—about five pounds per player in the line.

Identical Records

Both teams will enter the game with identical 2-0-1 records. Wilson has romped over

Wilson (W.L.), 33-0, and Hellertown, 33-0, while holding Gov.

Mifflin to a 19-19 tie.

Bangor, on the other hand, has registered two straight victories, trimming Cataqua, 21-0, and gaining another shut-out over East Stroudsburg, 25-0.

The Slaters were held to a 6-6 tie by Parkland in the opener.

Wilson has scored the most points between the two clubs—

87 against 52—but Bangor has allowed but six points by the opposition compared to the 19 by the Warriors.

Surgery Set For Mantle

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle definitely will have an operation on his left knee within two weeks in a New York hospital.

The New York Yankees announced Thursday after Manager Ralph Houk had conferred with

co-owner Dan Topping and General Manager Roy Hamey. Houk

contacted Mantle on a golf course in Dallas where he was playing with Ben Hogan.

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, club physician, will operate on Mantle for the removal of an outside cartilage of the left knee which was torn when he ran into a fence in Baltimore, June 5. He also suffered a broken bone in his left foot.

Coffman 'Good'

SWIFTWATER — Bill Coffman, Pocono Mountain High School fullback who suffered a head injury last Saturday playing against Notre Dame High School, was reported in "good" condition last night at the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Liston: 'No Fight'

that the heavyweight champion would defend his title before the end of the year.

Neither Finds Many 'Bargains'

Slim Pickin's For Mets, Colts From NL's Gesture

CINCINNATI (AP) — The New York Mets grabbed 20-year-old infielder Billy Haas from Los Angeles and pitcher Jack Fisher from San Francisco and the Houston Colts took relief pitcher Claude Raymond from Milwaukee Thursday at $30,000 each in the National League's gesture to help the newest clubs.

Although each of the eight other teams in the league had submitted lists of four "bargains", the lowly Mets and Colts obviously did not find much comfort in the list of 33. They could have taken a total of eight but they settled for only three.

George Weiss, president of the 10th place Mets, had first pick in the three-way telephone sale that linked New York and Houston with the office of league President Warren Giles. Weiss took

Haas, a Dodger bonus infielder who had counted on the Los Angeles club's player list all season as a "first-year man" although he played in Albuquerque and Santa Barbara.

After a phenomenal year at Reno in 1962 when he hit .368, 33 homers and 144 runs batted in,

Haas batted .302 at Albuquerque and .328 at Santa Barbara the past season. For some reason he was not placed on the World Series list and the Dodgers had only 24 eligibles. As it turned out, this was 11 more than they needed.

Fisher is a 24-year-old right-hander who spent his entire career with Baltimore until traded to the Giants last December with

Billy Hoelt and Jim Coker for Mike McCormick, Stu Miller and John Orsino. Fisher was supposed to be a starter with the Giants but after 10 starts he faded to the bullpen. He wound up with a 6-10 record and only two complete games in 12 starts. One of the complete games was against the Mets.

In Houston, Paul Richards, general manager of the Colts, said

"I wish we had won the right for first choice." Obviously he had hoped to grab Haas.

Richards settled for Raymond, a 26-year-old relief pitcher who had a 4-6 record and a 5.43 earned run record in 45 games with the Braves.

"As we said earlier this was just an indication that the other clubs are trying to help," said Weiss in New York. "They didn't shut the door. Unfortunately some of the players on the list were not a considerable improvement over what we had."

When the Mets and Colts were set up after the 1961 Series, they were permitted to select a total of 45 players from the others at prices ranging from $30,000 to $125,000.

Kist Views Leighton

E-burg Meets 'Best Team'

EAST STROUDSBURG — Jack Kist, coach of the East Stroudsburg High School views tonight's game at Leighton as "the best team we've seen all year."

The words are not encouraging to Cavalier fans — but they are honest words.

Leighton's rampaging Indians remain among the ranks of the undefeated this far and the school already is thinking in terms of a league championship. The Indians have recorded four straight wins so far while the Cavaliers, a team which has been depleted from stern to stern due to graduations last year, has won but one against two straight setbacks.

"Work Out Out"

"We have our work cut out for us," says Kist, "but we still are going down in hopes of giving them the toughest battle we can give them."

As Leighton has registered an impressive 4-0 mark, the Indians at the same time have averaged 35 points a game. East Stroudsburg, on the other hand, has dented the good line but once this season — but the Cavaliers made their conversion point stick for a 7-6 win over Slatington in the season's opener for both clubs.

Since then, the Eastburg eleven has been chopped down twice — by Pen Argyl, 40-0, and by Bangor, 25-0.

Watch Werner

The lad which Eastburg will be watching closely is fullback Bob Werner, the big ground grinder the Indians' attack. A quarterback last season, Werner was converted to the fullback slot this year.

Mike Ebbert, in his first year as head coach at Leighton, has been guiding the rough Indians on their successful gridiron warpath this season. From pre-game comments emanating from Leighton, the Indians seem physically fit and mentally ready to make the Cavaliers victim No. 5.

Kist, meanwhile, has been having his troubles in Eastburg. The loss of Monty Perfetti, first-string defensive halfback and second-string offensive quarterback, has hurt the squad a lot.

Perfetti, who suffered a knee injury two weeks ago, probably will be out for the rest of the season.

Stuart Cited

For 'Comeback'

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Stuart, the long ball-hitting first baseman who took advantage of Boston's short left field fence the past season after a disastrous year with Pittsburgh, was named the American League's comeback player-of-the-year Thursday.

The husky, right-handed batter received 36 votes of the 64 cast by baseball writers in the annual Associated Press poll. Frank Lary, Detroit pitcher, was second with six votes. Steve Barber, Baltimore pitcher, third baseman

Frank Malzone of Boston and outfielder Al Kaline of Detroit were named on three ballots.

Stuart moved to Boston in an inter-league trade last winter after hitting only .228 with 16 homers and 64 runs batted in for the Pirates. This past season, he led the American League in runs batted in with 118, was the runner-up to Minnesota's Harmon

Killebrew in home runs with 42 and batted .261.

Pleasant Valley School Plans Landscaping Bee

BRODHEADSVILLE — Raymond Hawk told Pleasant Valley School Committee last night that the landscaping program will be put into effect Monday morning.

Hawk said that Dr. Floyd W. Shafer of Stroudsburg has donated the plants and that Monroe County Agent John Withrow has submitted the plans for landscaping the school grounds and will be present to supervise the planting.

All the members of the committee and male teachers in the high school have been asked to donate some time in the planting program, Hawk added. He is a member of the school board.

In other business Edgar Williams of Henryville RD 1, discussed the equipment needed to install an emergency power plant in the high school.

He said the school would require at least a 25 KW generator to operate the heating plant, pumps and several other small motors. The estimated cost for the equipment is $3,300. This price included installation. The committee took no action, but will continue the study.
